AN INDEXED BIBLIOGRAPHY OF SECONDARY SOURCES IN ENGLISH FOR THE STUDY OF URDU LITERATURE IN INDIA AND PAKISTAN SINCE INDEPENDENCE

Compiled by Linda Wentink

This bibliography of 337 English language secondary sources for the study of Urdu literature since 1947 (excluding translations and works on Urdu language) attempts to give comprehensive coverage for periodicals, monographs and compilations published since 1947. With a few exceptions, citations from weekly or daily publications have not been included. Gidwani, Ed. Index India (discussed in the section REFERENCE WORKS USEFUL FOR THE STUDY OF URDU LITERATURE) is recommended as a source for newspaper articles.

Most works cited are available in American libraries, including the libraries of the University of Arizona (Tucson), the University of Michigan (Ann Arbor), and the Center for Research Libraries (the latter through the services of Inter-Library Loan.

REFERENCE WORKS USEFUL FOR THE STUDY OF URDU LITERATURE

The following three serial bibliographies are the most useful reference works for the study of Urdu literature. All three index both articles and monographs. Other reference works, such as the National Bibliographies and Library of Congress Accessions Lists for India and Pakistan, Kesavan and Kulkarni's National Bibliography of Indian Literature: 1901-1953, Indian Books, Books from Pakistan, and the Impex Reference Catalog of Indian Books are limited to monographs.

Bibliography of Asian Studies. Edited at the Knowledge Availability Systems Center, University of Pittsburgh. Association for Asian Studies. Published yearly.

The Bibliography of Asian Studies, the September issue (No.5.) of the Journal of Asian Studies (formerly the Far Eastern Quarterly), has since 1955 included sections on the literatures of India and Pakistan. See the Literature section under each country. This work does not usually index articles of less than three pages. Approximately one-fourth of the references occurring between 1955 and 1979 in the present bibliography have been listed in the Bibliography of Asian Studies.

Gidwani, N. N., Ed. Index India: A Quarterly Documentation List on India of Material in English, Combining in One Sequence Indian Newspaper Index, Indexes to Indian Periodicals, Foreign Periodicals, Composite Publications, Biographical Profiles, Book Reviews, Theses and Dissertations. With Separate Author and Subject Indexes. Jaipur: Rajasthan University Library. 1967-1975, cont.

See subject heading Literature and Linguistics: Urdu. Also, there is an alphabetical index at the end of each issue which includes Urdu. This source is particularly valuable for references to articles published in daily and weekly publications, and supplements the present bibliography, which does not include articles from newspapers. Approximately one-fifth of the references occurring between 1967 and 1975 in the present bibliography have been listed in Index India.

MLA International Bibliography of Books and Articles on the Modern Languages and Literatures. New York: The Modern Language Association of America. Published yearly.

See subject heading Oriental Literatures: South Asian Literature. One-fourth of the references in the present bibliography have appeared in the MLA International Bibliography.

BIBLIOGRAPHIES OF URDU LITERATURE*

Coppola, Carlo. A Bibliography of English Sources for the Study of Prem Chand. Mahfil. Vol. 1. No. 2. (1964). pp. 21-23.
A selected bibliography of collections, individual stories, books and pamphlets by and about Prem Chand [Srivastava Dhanpat Rai]. Based on the holdings of the University of Chicago library. Two of the 38 references have been included in the present bibliography.

Flemming, Leslie A. and G. C. Narang. An Additional Bibliography of English Sources for the Study of Urdu Language and Literature. Literature East and West. Vol. 15. No. 1. pp. 17-37.
This bibliography supplements that of C. M. Naim (in Literature East and West, below) and is a comprehensive listing of English sources for the study of Urdu published from 1960 to 1969. It includes works on language and literature, translations of fiction, drama and poetry, and a separate section on Iqbal. Based on the holdings of the Memorial Library of the University of Wisconsin, Madison. 49 of the 321 entries are included in the present bibliography.

Ghani, 'Abdul, and Khwaja Nur Ilahi. Bibliography of Iqbal. Lahore: Bazm-i Iqbal, 1955. 16 p.
Includes writings of Iqbal and articles about him.

Grierson, G. A. Bibliography for Hindustani. in G. A. Grierson. Linguistic Survey of India. Vol. 9. Part 1. Delhi: Motilal Banarsidas, 1968. [Originally published in 1916]. pp. 13-41.
This is the most complete bibliography for nineteenth century works on Urdu language and literature. It includes grammars, dictionaries, translations, Urdu readers, and general works.

Langley, M. H. Annotated Urdu Bibliography. United Provinces Congress Committee: Committee on Adult Literacy: Landeur. [Printed]. 1944. 24 p.
385 entries.

*As there have been so few published bibliographies of Urdu literature, I have included bibliographies of Pre-Independence as well as Post-Independence literature in this section. Mimeographed and unpublished bibliographies have not been cited as they are not readily available to the reader.

Malik, Hafeez. Selected Bibliography [On Iqbal]. in Malik, Hafeez, ed. Iqbal: Poet-Philosopher of Pakistan. New York: Columbia University Press, 1971. pp. 416-429.

A selected bibliography in two parts. The first part lists the works of Iqbal in chronological order, and gives studies of that work (in all languages). The second part gives general and specialized works on Iqbal.

Naim, C.M. Addendum to "A Bibliography of English Sources for the Urdu Language and Literature" (in Literature East and West. Vol. 7. No. 1. pp. 10-18). Mahfil. Vol. 1. No.1. pp. 10-12.

Based on the holdings of the University of Chicago library. 28 entries, of which 5 have been included in the present bibliography.

_____. A Bibliography of English Sources for the Urdu Language and Literature. Literature East and West. Vol. 7. No. 1. pp. 10-18.

Includes grammars, readers, translations and general works. Based on the holdings of the libraries of the University of Chicago, the University of California at Berkeley, and the Ames Library of South Asia at the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis. 12 of the 101 entries are included in the present bibliography.

Narang, G.C. A Bibliography of Urdu Short Stories in English Translation. Mahfil. Vol. 4. No. 2. (Winter, 1968). pp. 23-27.

Based on the holdings of the Memorial Library, University of Wisconsin, Madison. 76 stories.

Seidlinger, Mary. A Supplement to"A Bibliography of Urdu Short Stories in English Translation"by G.C.Narang. Mahfil. Vol. 4. No. 2. pp.27-29.

42 stories.

Silver, Brian Q. A Bibliography of English Sources on Ghalib. Mahfil. Vol. 5. No. 4. (1968-69). pp. 115-126. [Ghalib Issue].

A useful bibliography of 142 sources, including sections of books with passim reference to Ghalib.

Waheed, K.A. A Bibliography of Iqbal. Karachi: Iqbal Academy, 1965. iii, 224 p.

A very good annotated bibliography of works by and about Iqbal in Pakistani, Middle Eastern and European languages. The annotations for the works of Iqbal list reprints and translations. References to individual poems often give the transliterated first line. Reviews of books are noted in the annotations for the books. A useful reference work for the study of Iqbal.
